

LATIN [FLO-RIS] FLOWER

FLORIS

The arrival of spring signals budbreak, vigorous growth, and flowering - the vineyard breathes and bursts with new life. Buds form into leaves and tendrils, then finally, the first tiny flowers start to appear on the vines.

Bees, lacewings, spiders, and ladybirds move quietly through the foliage, enriching our land's precious biodiversity. Colourful cover crops begin to bloom, competing for water and balancing soil moisture following the region's heavy winter rains. Eventually, they decay, and the lifecycle feeds nutrients back into the ground.

It's a time of youthful abundance and one that inspires the FLORIS menu - bringing together a bounty of locally sourced produce in celebration of our organically farmed wines.
